Ten years ago Viz carried a spoof advertisement for the 'GnatWest' bank. In the last issue there was a whole page advertisement for 'Barclays'. But it was serious. Talk about a sell out. What next? Student Grant appearing in a national bank advertising campaign?

Contemporary DARNCE

We've received hundreds of letters from readers asking why Viz doesn't become more involved in the Performing Arts. And so we've decided to give in to public demand by launching our very first Contemporary Darnce competition.

The competition is open to all readers, providing they have access to video recording facilities. If you do not, you can get a grant to buy a camcorder from your local Arts Council. (Just pop round and ask them for details).

EXPRESS

To enter the competition we want you, the readers, to express your thoughts, feelings and emotions on any one of the following subjects, through the medium of contemporary darnce. Just send us a video tape of up to 15 minutes length (no longer, please) featuring your performance and preferably backed by improvised free form music.

TELEGRAPH

Your performance can be based on any one of the following categories:

1. War
2. Man's conflict with the environment.
3. Nature
4. Sex.

Your contemporary darnce video may feature any number of performers, but each tape must feature at least one bird wearing a leotard. We would stress the fact that this is a genuine competition, and the winning performance will be awarded our top prize - a complete stacking hi-fi CD system with speakers supplied by Richer Sounds.

MAIL

Your performance videos should be sent to Viz High Brow Contemporary Darnce Competition, P.O. Box 1PT, Newcastle upon Tyne, NE99 1PT. Please write your name and address on the video tape which will then be returned to you in due course. All entries must be received by no later than 5th December, 1993, the winner being announced in our January issue. All videos must be VHS format and carefully packaged before posting. Please mark them 'FRAGILE', not that it will make a ha'peth of difference as far as the postman is concerned.

Subscribing to your favourite magazine can save you pounds! Subscribing to Viz, on the other hand, will save you a trip to the newsagents. And there could be a small indirect financial saving in bus fares etc. Anyway, a year's subscription costs £7.50 (6 issues) or £11.50 overseas. For extra copies see below.

ORDER FROM YOUR NEWSAGENTS!

There are certain advantages in buying Viz from a newsagent. They sell sweets and fags, for example. And fresh sandwiches sometimes. And greeting cards. Let's face it, they work bloody long hours, and deserve the business. So why not ask your newsagent to hang onto each copy of Viz for you to make sure you don't miss it. Just give him this form, and don't forget to go in and collect your copy.

Dear Newsagent,
Please can I order a regular copy of Viz from you (every 2 months). Thanks.

SAVE THIS POOR COW

Barbaric French villagers plan to MURDER this tragic defenceless cow, HACK its lifeless carcass into bloody pieces, COOK it in an oven, then EAT it.

And then the blood thirsty mob will wash down its remains with bottles of wine.

BARBARIC

This barbaric ritual, reminiscent of a scene from the middle ages, has been re-enacted in the streets of Purtrain sur le Lit every year for centuries. This year it will be no different, and the French authorities have no intention of lifting a finger to stop it.

PEASANTS

Paraded out of its field by stick wielding peasants, the terrified beast will then be herded into a waiting lorry like cattle before being driven a short distance along bumpy roads to the local abattoir.

PETRIFIED

As a throng of jeering abattoir employees look on, the petrified animal will be STUNNED with electricity, and then KILLED with a savage blow to the head from a bolt.

CUE

That will be the cue for cheering crowds of sadistic

BY OUR EUROPHOBE
CORRESPONDENT
BILLY BOLLOCKS

French shoppers to go on the rampage through the narrow streets of the town, queuing in the butchers shop and supermarkets to buy blood stained chunks of the pathetic animal's body, which only hours before had been standing harmlessly in a field.

REST

Local civic dignitaries, among them the town's Mayor, will all join in the shameful procession as the animal's corpse is carried bit by bit back to kitchens to be cooked and later eaten, together with potatoes and vegetables.

"If this is what passes for civilisation on the continent then we have to ask ourselves whether we, the British, really want to be a part of it", said Tory MP Sir Anthony Regent-Park yesterday. "I don't deny that animals must sometimes be killed out of necessity. But the least they could do would be to give the poor beasts a chance by perhaps chasing them around on horseback with a pack of baying hounds, or charging a wealthy Arab £5,000 a day to drive around in a Range Rover taking pot shots at them with a shotgun. To subject an animal to such an undignified ritual seems quite wrong in this modern age".

Help bring a French cow back to Britain

We want to send a message loud and clear to the townsfolk of Purtrain sur le Lit: "FROG OFF!". And we need your help.

We're launching a campaign to save a cow from the hands of the French butchers, and gathering signatures for a vital petition aimed at stopping the slaughter. We want you to get five people to sign the form below, and send it back to us together with a donation of £5 (cash only).

SPIDER

The forms will be collected, and then sent to the Mayor of Purtrain sur le Lit, telling him in no uncertain terms where he can shove his onions, cheap plonk and silly loafs of bread.

The cash raised will be used to buy a French cow, transport it to England, and put it in a field with lots of grass. And some trees. It may be too late for the sad cow in our picture, but together we can save another cow. So send in the form, and money, today. The address is SAVE A FRENCH COW, Viz, P.O. Box 1PT, Newcastle upon Tyne, NE99 1PT.

For extra petition forms send £2.50 to the same address.

IT'S A WEAVE!

TV star Terry Wogan wears a weave. And that's official.

This stunning revelation ends years of speculation about the jovial Irishman's thick black mop. Ever since he made the switch from radio to TV broadcasting the popular chat show host's hair has been grabbing all the headlines.

REVEAL

But now we can reveal that Terry does NOT wear a wig. He wears a WEAVE. That's the opinion of a friend of our cousin. And they should know, because they once worked as Terry's hairdresser!

RIDICULOUS

To the onlooker it is hard to tell the difference between a wig and a weave. Both look equally ridiculous. But while wigs, or 'rugs', are liable to blow off in the wind, weaves will not. That's because a weave is actually stitched on to the slap head's shiny top, tied on to tufts of his remaining hair at the sides, just above the ears.

Wogan - his 'weave' visible on the top of his head.

REGULAR

Weave wearers try to fool wig spotters by shuffling their rugs at regular intervals, changing it every two weeks or so for the next size up to give the impression of hair growth.

We blow
the wig off Tel's toupee
mystery

They then look in the mirror, tut, and tell friends they need a haircut, before disappearing back to their box of mops and returning with the smallest size in place.

WRIGHT

Wogan is in good company. Other celebrity weave wearers include the Queen, American president Bill Clinton, footballer Ian Wright, 32, and weather girl Suzanne Charlton.

WEMBLEY DATE FOR THE STARS

A galaxy of big name stars from the world of pop have lined up for a spectacular gala charity concert at Wembley Stadium in October.

Top acts including Phil Collins, U2, Sting, INXS, Elton John, George Michael and Guns 'N' Roses are being lined up to perform, and messages of support have already been received from Paul McCartney and Michael Jackson. A charity single featuring all the participating artists will be released for Christmas.

RAISE

The stars taking part in the spectacular event hope to raise millions of pounds, although they haven't decided what for yet. "So far the support we've received has been magnificent", one told us yesterday. "Everybody we've spoken to has immediately dropped what they were doing and offered to help. People have been pulling out all the stops, and we're sure that this thing is going to be a massive success".

(a)READY

However, plans for the concert have already been criticised by one controversial pop figure - outspoken pop bendy gob and veteran toss pot Jonathon King. "I don't know what this event is in aid of, but whatever it is I'll be fundamentally opposed to it", he said, speaking out of his bendy gob yesterday.

FULCHESTER GENERAL HOSPITAL

HELLO SYD, WHAT'S UP WITH YOU TODAY?

SOB! SOB!

I'VE SWALLOWED SOME HIGHLY DEADLY POISON IN A SUICIDE ATTEMPT, BUT I HAVE SINCE HEARD SOME HEART-WARMING NEWS WHICH RE-KINDLED MY WILL TO LIVE, WHICH WAS PREVIOUSLY AT A LOW EBB.

SO I CAME DOWN TO THE HOSPITAL TO HAVE MY STOMACH PUMPED, BUT THERE HAS BEEN A POWER-CUT AND DUE TO LACK OF MAINTENANCE THE EMERGENCY GENERATOR IS BROKEN, SO THE STOMACH PUMP IS OUT OF ACTION.

I SEE THAT YOU HAVE A BIT OF A PROBLEM THERE INsofar AS YOUR UNTIMELY DEATH WILL BECOME IMMINANT IF YOUR STOMACH IS NOT EMPTIED AT ONCE. I'LL JUST EAT MY CAMPBELL'S MEATBALLS.

THIS IS NO TIME TO BE EATING POPULAR GRISTLE-FREE PRODUCTS, THIS IS MY LIFE WE'RE TALKING ABOUT, JOHNNY.

TRUST ME, SYD.

MOMENTS LATER...

READY, SYD?

QUAKE! RUMBLE!

MY LITTLE DAUGHTER IS INSIDE THE HOSPITAL AND IS TERRIBLY SICK, BUT THE POWER CUT HAS STOPPED HER LIFE SUPPORT MACHINE.

IF THE ELECTRICITY ISN'T RESTORED SHE'LL DIE WITHIN MINUTES.

DON'T FEAR MISSUS, I'VE JUST THE THING IN MY BAG... THERE, AN OLD CAR BATTERY.

A CAR BATTERY? THAT'S NO USE, A HOSPITAL NEEDS LOADS OF ELECTRICITY.

WHAT THE?

glug! glug! glug!

SHORTLY... YOU SEE BY DRINKING THE BATTERY ACID MY UNIQUE METABOLISM CREATED ELECTRIC PUMPS, ENOUGH WIND POWER TO KEEP THE HOSPITAL RUNNING AT FULL CAPACITY.

WHAT'S THAT HORRID SMELL MUMMY?

FZZZT!

THANKYOU JOHNNY, AS THE DOCTOR IN CHARGE I'M GIVING YOU A TENNER.

COR! THANKS! I'LL TAKE IT TO THE BANK.

BUT SURELY IN A CARTOON SUCH AS THIS YOU SHOULD FEAST ON THAT TENNER.

TECHNICALLY YES...

BUT IN THIS INSTANCE IT'S ALL PART OF THE PLOT.

AAH I SEE, THANKS JOHNNY.

AT THE BANK... JOHNNY, I'M GLAD YOU CAME, I'VE LOST THE KEY TO THE SAFE AND SOME OF THE CUSTOMERS ARE GETTING RESTLESS. CAN YOU HELP ME BEFORE I HAVE A RIOT ON MY HANDS?

CERTAINLY, I'LL JUST EAT THIS POTASH OF ALUM, WHICH WILL MAKE MY RING SHRINK TO THE SIZE OF A PINHEAD, THUS PRODUCING A DEADLY OXYACETYLENE BLOWLAMP FART OF PINPOINT ACCURACY.

THANKS JOHNNY, BUT WE'VE ALREADY TRIED OXYACETYLENE. IT'S NO USE ON THIS MODERN HIGH-TECH SAFE, I THINK I'M FINISHED!

DON'T GIVE UP, I HAD THIS PAIR OF KEX ON MY MUM'S SUNBED OVERNIGHT. I SHALL PUT THEM ON AND FART THROUGH THEM.

THE FART WILL BE TURNED INTO A POWERFUL LASER-BEAM WHICH WILL CUT THROUGH ANY SUBSTANCE KNOWN TO MAN...OR SOMETHING.

A FEW MINUTES LATER...

YOU LITTLE HOOLIGAN! ALL OF MY CUSTOMERS' SAVINGS MING OF FARTS NOW. NOBODY WILL EVER WANT TO TOUCH THIS MONEY AGAIN. THE CUSTOMERS AND I WILL HAVE TO KILL YOU.

YOU SEE WHEN IT WAS LOOKING STICKY I ATE TWO HUNDRED CRUSHED PARACETAMOL TABLETS TO MAKE A FART WHICH SENT EVERYONE TO SLEEP.

HER SIDE

Hubby and I liked it hot with Monroe!

Stan and Ollie (above) joined Doris for a sexy threesome.

from behind, and kissing every inch of my own naked body. The mystery was solved when we noticed an advice sticker on one picture, pointing out that ghosts don't show up in photographs.

JONES

After that my husband suggested we try a bit of girl on girl action with some lady ghosts, and asked me to put on a lesbian show with Marilyn Monroe. I summoned her to the bedroom using a glass and some playing cards. At first we were both nervous, and I admitted to her that I had never done lesbian. She said it was her first time too.

MADELEY

Anyway, we did a topless show for my husband, and I licked a sausage while Marilyn kissed my bottom. Suddenly a cold ghostly draught blew her skirt up, just like in that film. My husband got so excited he tried to join in. But he was forgetting that I have special powers to have sex with ghosts. If a mere mortal like him tries to touch a ghost, his hand just goes through them as if they aren't there.

GILES

So my poor husband ended up falling flat on his face and banging his head on the wardrobe! I couldn't stop laughing, and even Marilyn saw the funny side. Unfortunately however, that was not the only time when things got a little out of hand.

BATES

As a child I'd always been too scared to ride on a ghost train. But not nearly as scared as I was the night half a dozen ghosts decided to pull their very own ghost train – on me!

LECTER

Apparently several ghosts had been at a party in Heaven and had taken a lot of drink on board. You could say that they were in high spirits! In fact I've never seen six ghosts as pissed as they were. Anyway, they rolled up through my bedroom wall at two o'clock in the morning and I immediately knew what they were after.

KRUGER

Well I was having none of it. I'm as saucy as the next person, don't get me wrong. But I draw the line at having sex with six drunken ghosts all at once.

JASON

Luckily I had my wits about me and I told them I had the painters in. They took it in good spirits and I made them all a cup of coffee and we sat and watched TV until their ghost taxi arrived. It didn't honk the horn or ring the bell. It just drove in through the wall with a ghostly 'woosh!' sound and hovered above the coffee table.

KYLIE

All six ghosts piled into the taxi, but the driver wasn't having it. He said he was only licensed to carry five ghosts, and someone had to get out. Luckily one of them – I think it was 'carry on' actor Sid James – said he needed some fresh air, and offered to walk back to Heaven. Eventually I got rid of them, but only after lending them the taxi fare home!

CRAIG

Another scare I had was when I got pregnant by a ghost. It was Dirty Den who did it. He'd just been murdered in EastEnders, having got Michelle pregnant. Then he turned up in my bedroom while my husband was out and smooth talked his way into bed with me. I should have known better. Anyway, I found out I was expecting and told him so. But he didn't want anything to do with it.

Den - ghost baby father

In the end I decided to have an abortion. Ghost abortions are a bit like killing a Dracula. You can't get them on the National Health, that's for sure! My husband went down the butchers and got a steak and some garlic, and we used them to kill it during daylight hours.

Thinking about it now perhaps I should have had the ghost baby, because a friend of mine who is a nurse says that ghost babies simply walk through your tummy instead of coming out down below, so it doesn't actually hurt at all.

MRS MANGLE

Sometimes my husband and me lie awake at nights and cry thinking about my ghost baby that we killed with steak. But perhaps with all the murders and everything the world today would not have been a good place to bring up a ghost baby.

I guess that ghost baby is in Heaven now. Wherever it is I know it understands that what we did was for the best.

Monroe - did 'lesbian'

GHOSTBONKERS!

A great many people have claimed to have been the victims of sex attacks by ghosts. In fact, in certain parts of South America women are twice as likely to be raped by a ghost (or a space alien) than by an ordinary man. But ghost sex fiends look nothing like Frankenstein's monster, Dracula or any of the other fictional ghosts we see on the cinema screen.

SPECTRES

The scientific term for sexy spectres is an incubus, and one theory is that their 'bodies' or shapes are made up of a kind of chemical energy known as erectoplasm. Some of these ghosts take human form, others look like small green electric clouds that whizz about the place breaking things.

MARTENS

In the past the police have often been accused of scepticism and a lack of sympathy when dealing with cases of ghost rape, and there has never been a successful conviction of a dead rapist in British legal history. # Remember remember the 5th of November! FREE FIREWORKS!

Why Fawkes out a fortune on fireworks this year only to see them go up in smoke?

We all love fireworks, but nobody likes a rocket in the eye or a banger up the backside. But tragically every year thousands of children run the risk of ending up looking like Andrew Lloyd-Webber through the misuse of fireworks.

And as well as being dangerous, they are expensive. As Winston Churchill once said, "Fireworks are like a high class whore. You pay a fortune for one quick bang, and sometimes it doesn't even go off".

That's why we have developed the world's first TOTALLY SAFE fireworks. Unlike normal fireworks, with Viz 'underwater' fireworks you can:

- KEEP them in your back pocket.
- RETURN TO them if they fail to go off.
- HOLD a burning match to them whilst reading the instructions.
- LET THEM OFF in the presence of pets.

Make this Bonfire Night 'Bathfire Night'!

All you need for a spectacular FREE firework display is a bath full of water, and a few other household bits and pieces. Follow the instructions carefully for a waterworks display to remember!

SNOW STORM

Cut out and form tube, then place three Alka-Seltzer tablets in bottom. Fill remaining space with desiccated coconut, and stuff a sheet of blue toilet tissue in the top. Then place in bath and stand well back before removing blue touch paper to unleash an arctic blizzard of bubbles and coconut.

'JAWS' AQUA BANGERS

Cut out and assemble banger. Then drop into bath water and stand back while an adult hits the side of the bath with a shoe, making an ear piercing 'BANG!' sound.

HYDRO SPARKLERS

SPARKLERS NOT INCLUDED

Take six ordinary pipe cleaners and steep over night in undiluted Ribena. Then cut out packet provided and place them inside. Glue closed. Tear open and wave the sparklers around beneath the water. After a bit of practice you'll be able to write your name in the dazzling purple underwater 'sparks'.

POLARIS ROCKET

Take a cardboard toilet roll tube and write 'Polaris Rocket' on the side in bright, colourful lettering, surrounded by a few stars. Then insert 3 table tennis balls in tube. Jam one end with blue toilet tissue and glue nose cone provided to the top end. Then stick a chop stick to the side and tie a length of Christmas tinsel to the back as shown. Fill bath to just below overflow level, then submerge a milk bottle and stand it upright in bottom of bath. Hold rocket in place in milk bottle beneath the water and wait until onlookers are at a safe distance from bath. Then release rocket which will fly upwards and dramatically burst out from beneath the surface of the water before zooming up into the air.

NEPTUNE'S CANDLE

Cut out and form tube shape. Fill tube with several sachets of Beechams Lemon Resolve powder. Twist a sheet of blue toilet tissue and plug it into end to form touch paper. Place in bath and remove touch paper.

CRACKATOA

Create a breathtaking underwater eruption of colour! Place a drop of orange food colouring onto a sugar lump. Then cut out and assemble cone with sugar lump inside. Place in bath and stand well back. NB: For best results fill bath with lemonade.

POSEIDON'S WHEEL

Cut out the coloured disc and make pin hole through centre point. Carefully drill hole in centre of an Alka-Seltzer tablet. Thread nail through disc and tablet as shown. Remove bath plug and immediately insert nail into plug hole. As the water drains the spinning wheel will gather speed and produce a psychedelic cascade of whirling underwater colours.

SAFETY HINTS

Do not allow pet goldfish in the bath during your firework display. Do not use hot water in the bath. Do not leave children unattended near water. For best results drain the bath and refill between fireworks.

Cliff's nuts set to blow

A peaceful Surrey town is today facing a jismal cataclysm. For sex experts are warning that Weighbridge could soon be engulfed in Britain's first ever tidal gunk wave.

Scientists fear that the bollocks of one of the town's most celebrated residents - Cliff Richard - could explode if the popular singer does not have sex soon. And the resulting 'Pompeii' style disaster could reduce parts of Surrey to a spunky slurry.

BIOLOGY

Cliff, the seemingly ageless Peter Pan of Pop, claims to have been celibate for many years, and biology experts fear a potentially deadly build up of body fluids in his undercarriage could soon reach bursting point. As nearby residents prepare to protect their homes against flood damage with sandbags and tons of tissue paper, the question on everyone's lips is 'Will Peter Pan's Plumbs go Pop?'

PHYSICS

Weighbridge council officials were last night setting up an emergency control centre, and the army are understood to be on full alert. Late last night an eerie silence hung over the town as anxious residents hoped and prayed that the singer would either get his leg over, or experience a nocturnal emission before it is too late.

What makes a star's knackers blow up?

Exploding celebrity knackers is not a new phenomenon in Britain. As recently as 1989 fans of celibate comedian and author Stephen Fry were stunned when his left nut appeared to explode during a book signing session at a shop in Cambridge. No-one was hurt, although there was substantial damage to several books and a carpet.

CHEMISTRY

The medical profession has been aware of the condition, often referred to as Volatile Knackers, since before the turn of the century. But little contemporary research has been carried out in the field, and there is no course of treatment readily available to sufferers, other than having a wank.

FREE PERIOD

The problem arises when semen, which is constantly produced in the male adolescent body, is not ejaculated by the penis due to a lack of any sexual activity. Failure to 'chuck your muck' in this way can lead to the development of the early symptoms of the condition, including a 'stiffy', and 'nuts like two tins of Fussells milk'.

Bob names the day for charity spectacular

Stars whose surnames are types of weather are to be invited to turn out in a charity football match to pit their soccer talents against stars whose surnames are types of cars.

The Weather versus Car soccer star challenge was the brainwave of charity organiser Bob Johnson who hopes that the all star event will help raise millions of pounds for research into baldness.

GENERAL PUBLIC

"Stars as well as the general public are often struck down with this terrible hair losing condition, and it is therefore appropriate that big name stars like John Thaw, David Frost and Gareth Hale should take part in this spectacular fund raising event."

THE BEAT

Bob's brainwave to pit celebrity weather against car surnames on the football field came to him after he had seen an item on the TV news read by Jon Snow in which MP Austin Mitchell had been interviewed.

"Unfortunately Austin Mitchell's christian name is car, not his surname, so he doesn't qualify for the team, but I am hopeful that Harrison Ford will be playing, as well as Tommy Cooper".

SPECIALS AKA

Invitations have already been sent out to four celebrities in all whose surnames are also types of weather, and two whose surnames are a kind of car.

"It's early days yet, and whilst no-one has actually

Frost yesterday followed by Thaw early this morning.

accepted the invitation at this stage, I'm confident that we'll have a bumper turn out on the day, and a really exciting game", Bob told us.

SELECTOR

As well as the match, Bob will be selling balloons. The fun kicks off at 3pm on Saturday 26th June 1993 at Fulchester Recreation Ground. Bob says that any stars willing to take part, especially those whose surname is a type of car, should contact him at his work number which is Fulchester 577985, extension 427.

Quay Club is No.1 in the chart that's top for pop!

We've got a real mixed bag of bollocks jamming up this week's Top Ten Chart, including a night club, two bottles of beer and a broken hearted Andrew Tait. Records are rather thin on the ground.

No.1 is the ace of clubs - the QUAY CLUB - in Dean Street Newcastle upon Tyne. It's Newcastle's newest fully licensed night club; and well worth a visit. And for pop fans travelling from far afield, there's no need to worry about a hefty taxi fare home. Right next door is the Surtees Hotel, under the same management, and next door to that is a splendid restaurant. So next time you fancy a drink and a dance, hop on a train to Newcastle. Dean Street is only a 5 minute walk from the Central Station. And stay at The Surtees - Newcastle's nicest hotel.

There is tragedy at No.2 in the chart. Regular readers will recall how, in issue 55, we announced the marriage of Top Ten stalwart ANDREW TAIT to Maggie Peacock. Then, in issue 56, we announced that musician Andrew had teamed up with vocalist Alan Mason to record a song. Sadly we must now report that Andrew's wife Maggie has done a bunk with Mr Mason, and that they are now living together in the seaside village of Aldeburgh, Suffolk. Andrew is struggling to come to terms with his loss, but was never-the-less putting on a brave face on yesterday. "The one good thing to come out of it is that she's taken her record collection with her", he told us. "She can stick Elvis's 'Blue Hawaii' up her fanny as far as I'm concerned. If I hear that record one more time I'll scream".

On a more cheerful note JOHN OTWAY bursts into the chart at No.3. Possibly best known for his 'Really Free' single with Wild Willy Barrett in the seventies, the peculiar person of pop paid fifty quid for the privilege. So the least we can do is plug his forthcoming tour dates in the run up to his 2000th gig. If you were thinking of staying in and washing your hair on any of the following dates, think again.

October 2 BIRMINGHAM Breedon Bar, 3 PLYMOUTH Cooperage, 9 SWINDON Monkey Club, 10 BRISTOL Fleece & Firkin, 14 CARDIFF Gassy Jacks, 15 OXFORD Jericho Tavern, 16 STOKE Wheatsheaf, 17 DERBY The Wherehouse, 19 NORWICH University of East Anglia, 21 TUNBRIDGE WELLS Forum, 22 SOUTHAMPTON Joiners Arms, 23 LEIGH ON SEA Grand Hotel, 24 LEICESTER Mosquito Coast, 27 READING Purple Turtle, 28 BATH The Hub, 29 LEEDS The Duchess, 30 AYLESBURY Civic Centre, 31 BRIGHTON Concord.
November 5 BIRMINGHAM The Bear, 7 NOTTINGHAM Old Vic, 10 GLASGOW King Tut's, 12 'GIG 2000' LONDON Astoria. (Ticket details for Gig 2000 on page 32.)

SAG & GONZ return to Top Ten action at No.4. Their tape is selling like hot cakes, and they have a tray freshly baked and available for £5.00 from them at P.O. Box 47, St Leonards, Sussex, TN38 0AQ.

Sag, Gonz and gunslinging Eastwards yesterday (above) and John Otway (above that)

Another comedy double act from our previous chart are now a treble act! PARSONS & NAYLOR have teamed up with Spaghetti gun slinger Cliff Eastward. You can 'make their day' by buying a copy of their record. Although having said that they don't appear to have one. So I suppose the idea is that you go and see them if they're on anywhere near you. Or something.

No.6 and we're already down to the dross. 'H' is someone or something who sent us a letter, some holiday snaps and £10.52. Because they sent the money we feel honour bound to include them in the chart, but fuck knows what for. They admit they haven't got a record, although they did mention a 'master tape'. No doubt it will be in the shops in time for Christmas...

Sliding gracefully down the chart from his former No. 1 position is ARCHIE BROWN after an incredible 6 months at the top. Copies of his CD album are still available from the Top Ten address priced £10 (cash).

(Beer pop that is)

To be quite honest we haven't got any more records in this chart, so we're chucking in an old Viz single that we still have lying about. Dating back to 1986 it features John Otway and was written by Andy Partridge. 'Bags of Fun with Buster' was an enormous hit at the time, selling a whole box full. Sales will be doubled if 25 people each send in, £5.00 (including P+P) to the Top Ten address. First 25 get a copy. The rest get their money back. (Cash is always easiest isn't it.)

Despite their lowly chart positions, the entries at No.9 and 10 are definitely 'top of the pops'. Beer pop that is.

Because FLYING HERBERT and DIZZY DICK are beers from the North Yorkshire Brewing Company. And in an attempt to introduce our readers to their unusual ales they've ram-raided their way into the chart by sending a lorry load of free samples to the Top Ten Office. And the Middlesbrough based brewers are also giving away 500 T-shirts to Viz readers, plus some free beer.

To claim a free T-shirt all you have to do is visit as many pubs as you can, anywhere in Britain, until you find one that sells Dizzy Dick or Flying Herbert. When you find it, buy a pint, and show the landlord the voucher below. He will stick a special sticker on it. # ROCK A BYE E

To millions of fans Elvis Presley was, and still is, (and always will be) quite simply The King. Of Rock 'n' Roll. And when he died, on the lavatory, wearing a nappy, in 1977, the whole world mourned the death of a star we had all come to know. And love.

But just how well did we know him? Not as well as we may have thought, according to a new book published this week. A book which takes an unusually intimate look at the private man behind the public face of Elvis Presley.

'Elvis - His Life and his Bedtime Routine' is a no-holds-barred biography which focuses on the end-of-day behavioural patterns of the man from Memphis who to many became the voice of rock'n'roll. Here, in a brief extract from the book, author Jimmy Hill, better known for his football analysis and big chin, gives us an insight into the lifestyle of a star; his supper times, his choice of late night viewing, his preferred bedtime drink. This, for the first time, is the real Elvis.

'ELVIS - HIS LIFE
AND HIS BEDTIME
ROUTINE'

'On 16th July 1977 Elvis Alan Presley set his bedside alarm clock for 8.30am, then pushed up the little knob that primed the bell to go off in the morning. Then he kicked off his slippers - first the right, then the left, and lay back his head on the pillow. Seconds later Elvis Presley was asleep.

ROUTINE

It was a routine that he had been through a thousand times before. But this time it was different. This time was the last time. For the next day, on 17th July 1977 Elvis Alan Presley was found dead, on the toilet.

GRACELANDS

Elvis' bedtime routine had been perfected over the many years during which he'd lived in his Graceland mansion. In fact, in those latter years of his life, it was often said that neighbours could set their clocks by the time Elvis switched off his bedside lamp - 11.25pm exactly. But it hadn't always been like that.

on the t the pop

As a youngster living in Tennessee, America, Elvis Alan Presley had often gone to bed early. His mother, Mrs Presley, had insisted that as a toddler the young Elvis should be in bed, teeth brushed and lights out, by 6.30pm. There, after a goodnight kiss from his mum, the young Elvis would lie awake and dream of becoming the King of rock'n'roll. By his side would be a little Teddy bear. A Teddy bear that would later be immortalised in the worlds of the song 'It's Now or Never'.

ADVENT

But all that was to change with the advent of World War Two, and Elvis' life and bedtime routine were turned upside down. Still in his teens, Elvis was drafted into the army and sent to fight in Germany. And army life came as quite a shock to the young boy from Tennessee, America. It wasn't only his haircut that changed. So did his sleeping habits too.

PIRELLI

Lights out in the army was 8.30pm sharp, though the young Private Presley would often stay awake reading by torchlight until nine o'clock. Or even ten o'clock if it was a good book. Sleeping conditions were cramped. Yet incredibly enough in the five years he spent in the army Elvis never once slept on the top bunk.

DUNLOP

After the war Elvis returned to America and had his first taste of success, topping the charts on both sides of the Atlantic with hits such as 'Hound Dog' and 'We're Caught In A Trap'. But with success came problems. Mrs

Presley still insisted that Elvis be in bed asleep by no later than 9.30. But Elvis, whose stage antics had earned him the nickname 'Pelvis', wanted to stay up late. Increasingly the rising star began to fall under the influence of Colonel Saunders, a mysterious figure who was later to manage his career.

GOODYEAR

The Colonel and Mrs Presley agreed a compromise whereby Elvis would have his supper and change into his pyjamas by 9.30. He was then allowed to watch TV until ten o'clock before going upstairs to the bathroom, brushing his teeth, washing his face and hands, and then going to bed.

GOODNESS

As during his army days, the King would occasionally read for a while before going to sleep. When he eventually became tired he would mark the page by folding back the top corner, then close the book and place it on his bedside table. Remarkably, throughout his entire life Elvis never used a bookmark.

A LIFE IN TOOTHBRUSHES

'Wise men say, only fools rush in'. And that was never more so the case than in the case of Elvis Alan Presley who never rushed in to a shop to buy a toothbrush. Incredible though it may seem, throughout his entire life the King of Rock'n'Roll never once bought a toothbrush for himself.

As a child his mother had always bought toothbrushes for him, possibly choosing red ones, as red was probably his favourite colour. In later life Elvis became less fussy about the colour of his toothbrushes, some of which would be bought by his mother, and others by his mentor Colonel Saunders.

MIDDLE

Occasionally, if Elvis was staying at a hotel and he'd forgotten his toothbrush, he would ring reception and ask if they'd got any toothbrushes. If they had some he'd ask for one, and if they didn't he'd maybe send someone out to a shop to buy one.

SIDE

In later years Elvis experimented with those bendy toothbrushes that can reach into difficult corners of your mouth, and at one stage an electric toothbrush was delivered to his mansion in Graceland, California. However, it was never used. For when, on 18th April 1980 Elvis Alan Presley was found dead, his electric toothbrush was found, still in its box, unopened, on a shelf nearby.

Shortly before his death on the toilet Elvis was so fat (above) he could hardly fit into this photograph.

is (with fold through head) wants to play guitar, but mummy is (right) and Daddy Elvis (left) tell him 'It's time for bed'.

Eventually Elvis succumbed to the lure of Hollywood, and in 1969 he moved to Las Vegas. So began the Vegas years, an era when Mrs Presley's influence on her son began to wain. It is widely acknowledged that during these years Elvis began to drink beer, and take drugs, and this gradually began to take its toll on his bedtime routine.

SAKE

His bedtime got later and later. On several occasions he was still up and running about at eleven o'clock. He would watch films until yon time, sometimes drinking cocoa after he'd brushed his teeth.

HIPPY

He began to wear the same pyjamas for days on end without washing them, and then stopped wearing pyjamas at all. Instead he would sleep in the vest and underpants that he had been wearing all day. On one occasion it is rumoured that he even fell asleep in front of the television and awoke the next morning, never having been to bed at all.

For Elvis the end was in sight. Once a young man from Tennessee, America, Elvis Alan Presley had risen to the heady heights of the rock'n'roll tree. He had scaled the topmost pinnacle of rock, only to roll down the other side.

HIPPY

It is perhaps ironic that a man who spent so much of his life in bed, or about to get into it, and making preparations for getting into it, should not die in his bed. For Elvis once said to Colonel Saunders "Don't ever let me die in bed, Colonel Saunders".

SHAKE

And that dream came true. For on the 18th of April 1980 Elvis Alan Presley died. Not in a bed, but on the toilet. A sad but fitting end to a legend that will live forever. Even though he is dead, yet shall he live.

Elvis Alan Presley. Born 1955. Died 1980. Long live the king.

BLOCKBUSTER BOB'S FEET IN A MUDDLE

Bob Holness has come a long way since the sixties when he used to present some kids, TV programme or other in black and white.

But fans of the millionaire Blockbusters host are probably unaware that plucky Bob battled his way to the top of the telly tree despite a serious disability. For 44 year old Bob was born with his feet on the wrong legs. And getting his TV career off the ground was made almost impossible by the fact that his feet were the wrong way round.

WINDMILL

"It was very embarrassing at times", recalls Bob, whose luxury home is a £2 million converted windmill in the Lake District. "At school I would trip over and get myself into a muddle, and when I left I found it difficult to find work".

ICE HOUSE

Bob failed literally hundreds of TV auditions because of his condition. "Producers didn't want to know when I turned up for auditions with my feet on the wrong legs. They'd take one look and say 'Forget it'. I was turned down by Tomorrow's World, The Black and White Minstrel Show, Dr Who, Animal Magic and Grandstand - all in one afternoon".

SNOW CHAIN

Having your feet on the wrong legs can be an expensive business too. "Of course I could never buy a pair of shoes to fit me", recalls Bob. "Even today I have to buy two pairs of shoes, then throw half of them away".

But despite his age - Bob will be 67 this year - there are still no thoughts of retirement for Britain's favourite elderly kids' TV quiz show host.

SUN ROOF

However, at 67, telly veteran Bob may soon be hanging up his TV quiz boots. "I've been in this game for a long time, despite my unusual feet. And it may soon be time to call it a day, and make way for someone a little younger. And with their big toes on the inside".

EXCLUSIVE

But one thing is for sure. Bob won't be quitting his role as host of TV's Blockbusters. "You're as young as you feel, and I certainly don't feel like packing it all in yet. I never was one for gardening", said Bob yesterday.

FOG HORN

But Bob's retirement promises to be anything but relaxing. "I'm often busier at home than I am in the TV world", he admitted. And with two young kids, a hungry wife and a sizeable garden to look after, Bob will have his hands full.

Give us 'B' please Bob for Blockbuster's Bob Holness wearing a tie yesterday.

"One thing's for sure", quipped Bob yesterday. "I won't be sitting back and putting my unusual feet up for some time yet".

At the last count TV millionaire Holness was estimated to be worth £132 million.

Physical peculiarities of the brainy quiz show hosts

TV starter for ten brain box Bamber Gascoigne, arch telly rival of Blockbusting Bob Holness, had his ears on backwards for many years before undergoing corrective surgery for the problem.

HAIL CAESAR

ITV bosses used clever angles and mirrors to disguise swot Bamber's funny ears during filming of TV's University Challenge.

GALE TILSLEY

Ask The Family quiz host Robert Robinson has always refused corrective surgery on his peculiar eyes. Call My Bluff question master Robinson, one of the Beeb's brainiest quiz show hosts, was born with his eyes upside down.
